Dear client,

We are committed to the pursuit of excellence, and understand quality not only as meeting performance requirements, but also in attending to consumer health and environmental protection aspects.

To this end, for several years now, we have taken a proactive stance with regard to various environmental and consumer health issues.

In this compliance, we have been certified, since 1996, according to STANDARD 100 by OEKO-TEX® [Class II – Products with skin contact] guaranteeing, therefore, that our products are produced by ecologically responsible processes and are free from concentrations of harmful substances to the health and well-being of the consumer.
